

Our new lawyers bring a little showbiz along with their impressive credentials.

We are proud to welcome Chip Sutherland and Barrie Dunn to our firm.

For twenty years Pink Larkin has been dedicated to excellence in the practice of Public Law with an emphasis on employment, professional regulation, pension and benefits, and complementary areas of environmental and municipal law. With the addition of Chip and Barrie to the firm, we are proud to offer the same calibre of legal work in the discipline of entertainment law.

Chip Sutherland has been a nationally recognized expert in entertainment and media law since 1992 and was the first lawyer in Atlantic Canada to develop a specialized music law practice in which he has negotiated agreements all over North America and Europe. Chip has also been active in the field of health law, representing both hospitals and doctors in developing innovation in health care administration and health-related technology.

Barrie Dunn, in addition to helping bring the hit show "Trailer Park Boys" to TV, consults on a variety of matters relating to his entertainment law practice. He spent over twenty years in the film and television industries as an actor, writer, director and producer, giving him a specialized and extensive knowledge of entertainment law issues. His accomplishments have been recognized in both the national and international media.

At Pink Larkin we strive to provide our clients with unequalled excellence in legal work shaped by a desire to make a positive difference in people's lives. The addition of Chip and Barrie to the firm is one more way we continue to deliver on that promise.

We are proud of the partnership we enjoy with the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union.

We are putting our expertise in representing trade unions throughout Canada to work for you.

For over thirty years Pink Larkin has been dedicated to excellence in the practice of Public Law with an emphasis on labour law, professional regulation, pension and benefits, and complementary areas of environmental and municipal law. In serving the Teachers' Union, our dedication, attention and responsiveness are personified primarily in three of our talented lawyers.

GAIL GATCHALIAN, a partner with Pink Larkin, has extensive experience providing legal advice and representation to trade unions in grievance arbitration, collective agreement negotiation, interest arbitration, human rights matters, and pension litigation. Gail speaks regularly on issues important to trade unions, and provides training to employee representatives.

DAVID ROBERTS, a partner with Pink Larkin, has represented a full range of clients before labour boards, in grievance arbitrations, and in the courts. David has also represented union clients before two significant public inquiries into occupational health and safety – the Westray Mine and Englishtown Ferry Inquiries.

DAVID WALLBRIDGE has a keen interest in legislative issues and in working to ensure progressive legislative change for workers in Nova Scotia. As an associate, he represents both public sector and private sector clients in grievance arbitration and proceedings before the Nova Scotia Labour Relations Board.

At Pink Larkin we strive to provide our clients with unequalled excellence in legal work shaped by a desire to make a positive difference in people's lives. We are pleased that these three lawyers, backed by the entire firm, are able to continue making a real difference in the life of every member of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union.
